4.ANTHONY JACKSON II 3.RICHARD JACKSON 2.ANTHONY JACKSON 1.RICHARD JACKSON

Anthony Jackson II, a son of Richard and Ursula (Hildyard) Jackson, was born in Killingswold Grove, Yorkshire, England in 1594 and died in 1666, probably in Ireland.

Anthony was a friend of King Charles I and was admitted to the Inner (Chamber) Temple in 1616. He was called to the bar in 1635 and was knighted at Breda, Holland in 1650.

Anthony was imprisoned in the Tower of London for eight years, beginning November 1, 1651. His wife's name is unknown.

E-mail from Leland Jackson to Don Norman Nov 25 2002

"In the hopes of finding out more about Sir Anthony's four sons, who are said to have been born in St. Michael's Parish, Eccleston, Lancashire between 1624 and 1630, I commissioned a research study at the Institute of Local and Family History of the University of Central Lancashire. I have not understood how Sir Anthony maintained a family in Lancashire while he was "at Court" and in the Inner Temple in London or why he and his sons ended up on opposite sides in the English Civil War. I had hoped that this study would shed some light on these questions."
"The Institute has submitted a very thorough report outlining their research. Unfortunately, they can find no reference to Sir Anthony or his family in Lancashire. The parish register for St. Michael's does not begin until 1659. Wills, probates, and many other sources were examined, with no luck. However, references to his later years were found in the Calendars of State Papers, and these give an interesting glimpse of his eight years as a prisoner in the Tower of London. Included is the only reference to his wife that I know of, but without her name. Attached is that section of the report as a pdf file."

"Since Sir Anthony Jackson had been [reported to be] Private Secretary to the Duke of Buckingham, it was hoped that there might be reference to him in the Calendars of State Papers, Domestic Series. An extensive number of volumes, thirty nine in total, were examined beginning with the volume covering the period 1611-18,through to the years 1661-2.As all these volumes are approximately two and a half inches thick, it would have taken a very considerable amount of time to read every volume. Fortunately, the volumes are accompanied by an index. This made the search much easier. Unfortunately, there was no mention of Sir Anthony, or Anthony Jackson as he would be then, until after the end of the Civil War. The first mention of him came in September 1651, when it is recorded that he and some other prisoners had escaped following their capture at the Battle of Worcester. A full transcription of this appears later. Less than 2 months later on 3rd November 1651,Sir Anthony has clearly been recaptured, and the Calendars state that he was being held prisoner accused of 'high treason, for invading the nation with Charles Stuart and proclaiming him King of England'. During the following weeks he was permitted to speak to one Arthur Farewell and also his wife. The full name of his wife is not recorded. She is merely referred to as Mrs. Jackson. He was also permitted to speak with Dorothy Cowley and Richard and Mary May regarding a conveyance of land wherein he was a Trustee. On 16th February 1652/3,Sir Anthony is recorded as petitioning to be permitted liberty of the tower. Nothing further is recorded about this petition. However, later in the year, November 4th,it is recorded that Sir Anthony is to be allowed to give evidence in a case at the Court of Common Pleas held in Westminster Hall. He is to be attended by his Keeper. Not content with petitioning for freedom within the Tower, Sir Anthony was recorded on l0th of March 1653/4 as petitioning for his release on security of 'not acting prejudicially.

He claims that he was a servant only to the 'young King of Scots, but never in arms'. His claim was not believed as there is a note at the end of this petition stating that he was the 'Herald that Proclaimed Charles Stuart'.

Six months later, on 1st September 1654,there is evidence that the parliament was considering sending Sir Anthony into exile. For proclaiming Charles Stuart King, he was 'to be banished, on security not to return without leave. Nothing further is mentioned of this, and it is clear that this enforced exile did not come about."

Andrew Jackson Sr., a son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Vance) Jackson, was born in Limvady, Ulster, Ireland about 1730. He married Elizabeth Hutchinson in Ireland.

According to her son, Andrew Jr., Elizabeth died in Charleston, SC in November 1781, after contracting "ship's fever" from nursing two nephews, Joseph and William Crawford, on a British prison hulk in Charleston Harbor.

Andrew Sr. was politically active in Ulster and was a member of the "United Men" or "United Irishmen", an organization opposed to English rule of Ireland. The British government outlawed the organization and made membership punishable by death. Andrew's membership was discovered and he fled to America on a few hours notice.

Andrew visited his brother David and his half-sister Margaret (Jackson) McCaughey in Pennsylvania and then settled in Cecil County, Maryland. After a few years, the family moved to North Carolina. Andrew died in North Carolina in February 1767.

33.JOHN JACKSON 25.THOMAS JACKSON 17.THOMAS JACKSON
9.RICHARD JACKSON 4.ANTHONY JACKSON II 3.RICHARD JACKSON
2.ANTHONY JACKSON 1.RICHARD JACKSON

John Jackson, a son of Thomas Jackson, was born in Ulster, Northern Ireland in 1719. He moved with his family to London, England about 1723. His father died in London in 1725.

In 1748, John emigrated to Cecil County, Maryland. In 1755, he married Elizabeth Cummins in Cecil County.

Elizabeth was born in England January 8, 1729. She was orphaned as a child and was reared by a maiden aunt. After her aunt's death, Elizabeth came to New York in search of her sister. Finding that her sister had died of yellow fever. Elizabeth then moved to Cecil County MD to live with friends from London.

In "Hacker's Creek Journal" Volume XVI, Issue 3, 1998, John Jackson presents another story of John Jackson and Elizabeth Cummins's life in England. Jackson states that both John and Elizabeth were transported to America as convicted felons in 1749 aboard the "Litchfield". Elizabeth Cummins, also known as Elizabeth Little, was convicted in the first week of April of 1749 of stealing a long list of property from the home of Thomas Holland in the parish of St. Catherine Coleman. Elizabeth's accomplice, Hannah Martin, testified against Elizabeth and she was saved from hanging by a plea for leniency by Mrs. Holland.

A John Jackson was convicted in mid January 1749 in London of stealing property valued at more than 120 guineas from his relative, Henry Jackson. There is no solid proof that John Jackson was transported to America aboard the "Litchfield" but that appears to have been the first convict transport after his conviction.

In 1758, the family moved to Loudon County VA. After about a year, they moved to the South Branch of the Potomac River. Elizabeth is reported to have related that they "... settled there in a fort four years at George Wilson's on Mill Creek." They next moved to a site on Lost River Road, near present day Moorefield, Hardy County, WV.

In 1770, they moved to Pendleton County VA (WV) and Elizabeth bought 3,000 acres of land with her inheritance. This tract included present day Buckhannon, WV.

John served the Colonies in the American Revolution. He was in the Battle of Kings Mountain and was name a Lieutenant of Militia in 1787.

About 1782, the family moved to Clarksburg in Harrison County VA (WV).

John Jackson died September 25, 1804 and Elizabeth died in 1828.

43.GEORGE JACKSON 33.JOHN JACKSON 25.THOMAS JACKSON 17.THOMAS JACKSON 9.RICHARD JACKSON 4.ANTHONY JACKSON II 3.RICHARD JACKSON 2.ANTHONY JACKSON 1.RICHARD JACKSON

George Jackson, a son of John and Elizabeth (Cummins) Jackson, was born in Cecil County MD January 9, 1757 and died in Muskingum County Ohio in 1832. In 1773, he claimed 400 acres of land in the vicinity of present day Clarksburg, Harrison County, WV.

George was a member of the frontier militia and was commissioned a Colonel of militia by George Washington during the Revolution. The following court proceeding from Harrison County VA describes his part in General George Rogers Clark's 1781 expedition.

"State of Virginia Harrison County. On the 21st day of October 1833 personally appears in open court Christopher Nutter who being first duly sworn according to Clark Law, deposeth and saith that he is now in his seventy-fourth year of age that in the spring of the year 1781 Captain George Jackson preceeded in virtue as afffian understood of a commission ------ Governor of Virginia appointing said Jackson to raise a company of volunteers that affiant joined said compaign at most Buckhannon in what is now in the Court\County of Lewis in this State. That volunteers proce were rased to join an expedition under the command of General Colonel George George Rogers Clark. That in the campaign so raised and commanded by said Jackson, William White was first Lieutenant, Jacob Westfall was Second Lieutenant and Hezekiah Davison was ensign and quarter master. That said company marched under the command of said Jackson and joined the expedition about fourteen miles above Fort Pitt. That said company proceded under the command of said Jackson with the residue of the troops the whole commanded by said George Rogers Clark, down the Ohio river, and ____at the falls of the Ohio river. On the 19th of August 1781, when the troops reached the falls, the company commanded by Captain Jackson numbered one hundred & four rank and file, that they remained under the command of said Clark untill late in the fall of the same year of 1781. The company was then discharged and marched back to the place where they volunteered by the said Captain George Jackson. That affiant continued to reside in Harrison County Virginia from the time he returned from said expedition until this day. That affint was frequently out in scouting parties and in pursuit of Indians until the close of the Revolution and untill the cessation of Indian hostilities. That during all this and period Captain Jackson acted as Captain and continued to command as such Captain of the Rangers or Scouts untill hostilities with Indians ceased which did not occur untill after the close of the Revolutionary war. During the whole period Captain Jackson had the contract of the line of blockhouses from Buckhannon to the Ohio river, employed scouts or spies and so as charged with the defence of the frontier. Affiant further states that after the return of the troops from Clark's Expedition affiant as has been on several occasions with Captain Jackson under his command and in the pursuit of Indians who had committed depredations on the settlements on the Monongalia waters in Virginia. Affiant has no acquaintance with any person now living except Alexander West of Lewis County and himself who belonged to the company commanded by said Captain Jackson in Clark's Expedition. Affiant further states that Captain Jackson was an eff,cient and able officer in Clark's Campaign as aforesaid and displayed great skill energy and activity in protecting the Settlements on the water of the Monongalia river in Virginia."

The first Harrison county VA court was held at George's home in 1784. George was elected to the Virginia House of Burgesses, was a member of the Virginia State convention that ratified the Federal Constitution and served three terms in Congress.

George married Elizabeth Brake in Hardy County Va (WV) November 13, 1776. Elizabeth, a daughter of Jacob Sr. and Elizabeth (Cooper) Brake, was born in VA February 22, 1757 and died in March 1812. After her death, he married Nancy (Richardson) in Ohio in November 16, 1814. His will is dated at Zanesville, Ohio January 21, 1831 and was recorded there June 27, 1832.

He married Mary Haddan in Harrison County October 13, 1783. Mary, a daughter of David Haddan, was born in NJ May 15, 1764 and died in Harrison County April 17, 1796.

Edward was commissioned a Captain of Militia in Randolph County VA May 28, 1787. He was promoted to Colonel in 1790. The May 28, 1787 minutes of the first county court of Randolph County contain a recommendation to request the Governor to appoint Edward Jackson Surveyor of the county. He was appointed a county justice May 29, 1787, commissioner of revenue in 1791 and as sheriff in 1792.

Edward married Elizabeth Wetherholt Brake in Harrison County October 13, 1799. Elizabeth, a daughter of John and Elizabeth (Wetherholt) Brake, was born January 11, 1772 and died in Lewis County August 19, 1835.

In 1786, Harrison County VA granted Edward "liberty to build a mill or mills on land ceded to him by George Bush at Peatroes Fish Pot on the West Fork and that the sheriff summons a jury to condemn as much land at said Fishpot as is allowed by law for building mills and make report thereof to the next court." A mill of some sort must have been built by June 20, 1800 as a record in the Virginia Assembly for that date noted that the Monongahela River was "navigable as far as Edward Jackson's mill."

After 1801, Edward moved to the land near the mill. He surveyed the town of Weston, was appointed a commissioner to construct a court house for Lewis County VA in 1819. He was appointed a justice of the peace in 1820 and represented Lewis county in the Virginia assembly in 1822 and 1823.
